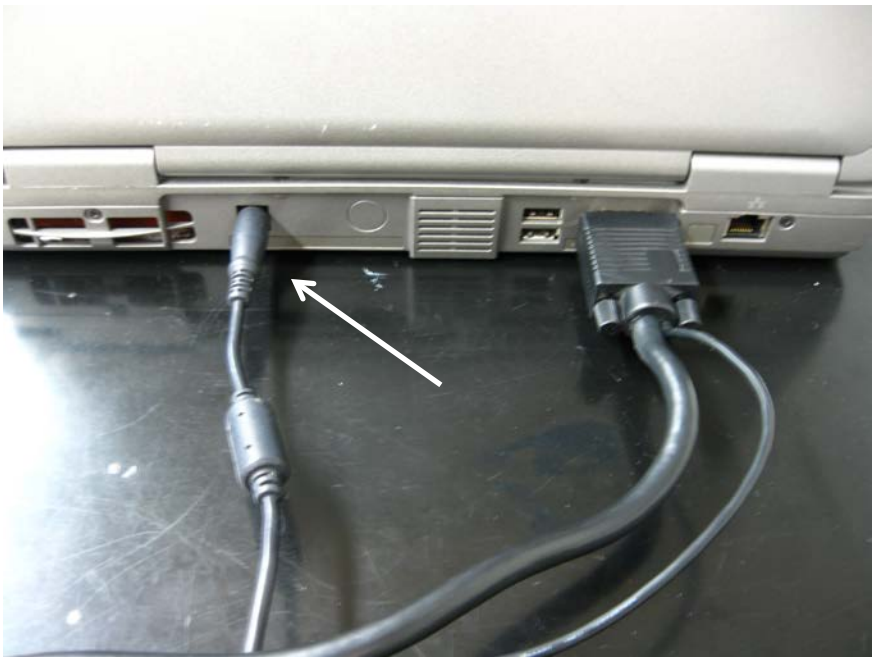
How to Use Dell Inspiron 1150 Notebook with the Tandberg Unit

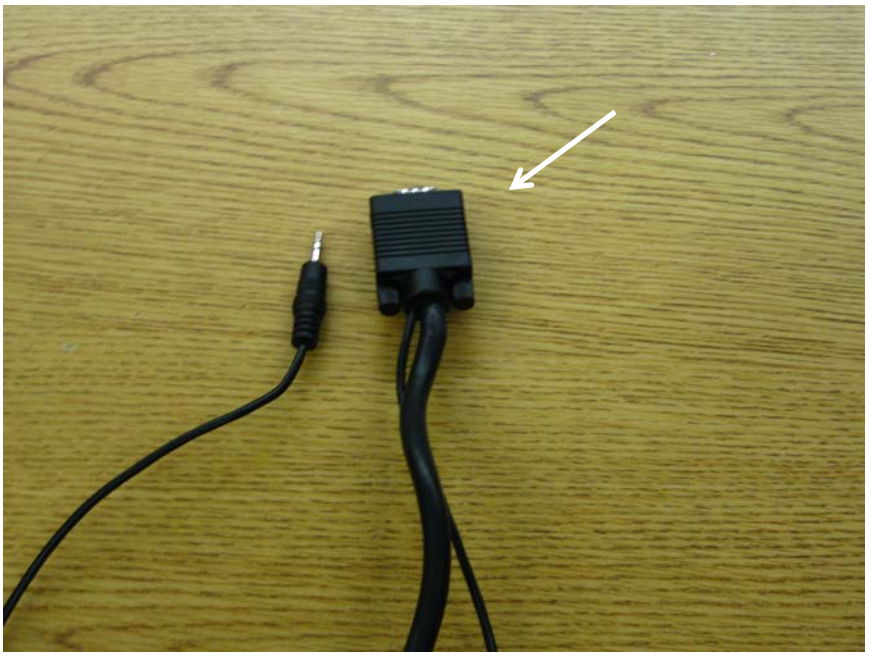
Note: The Dell Inspiron notebook is stored in the school office and must be picked up there. Once you are finished using the notebook please return it to the school office. The TandBerg unit is usually located in the Science Lab.

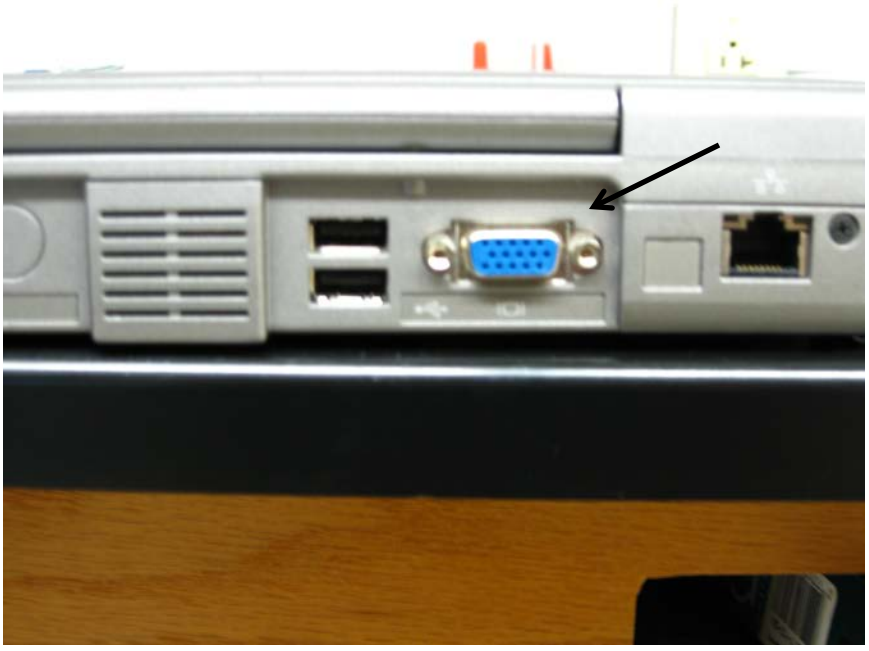
1. Plug TandBerg unit power cord into wall outlet.

2. Connect power charger to notebook and plug charger into power outlet.

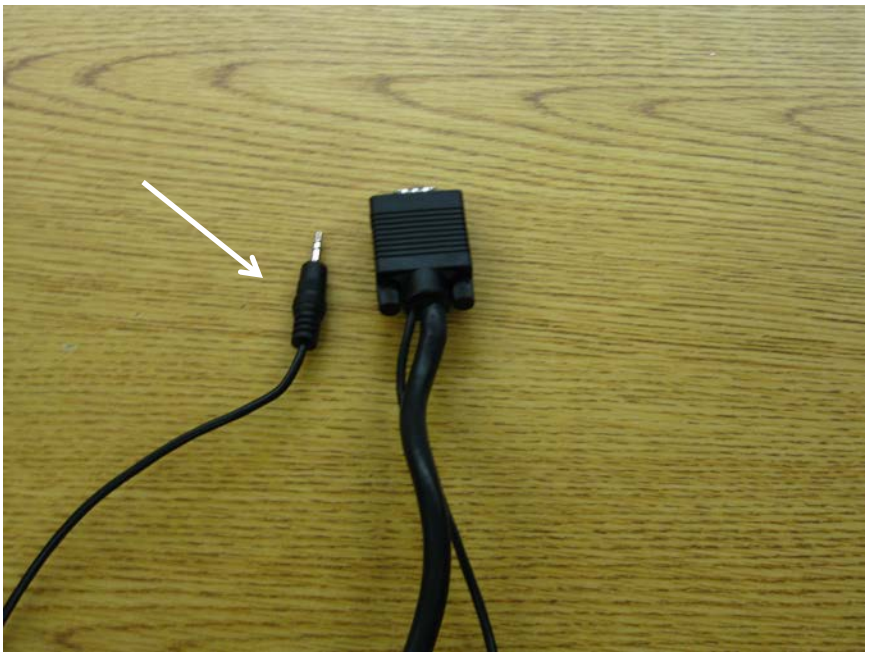


3. Connect VGA plugin from TandBerg unit to notebook.



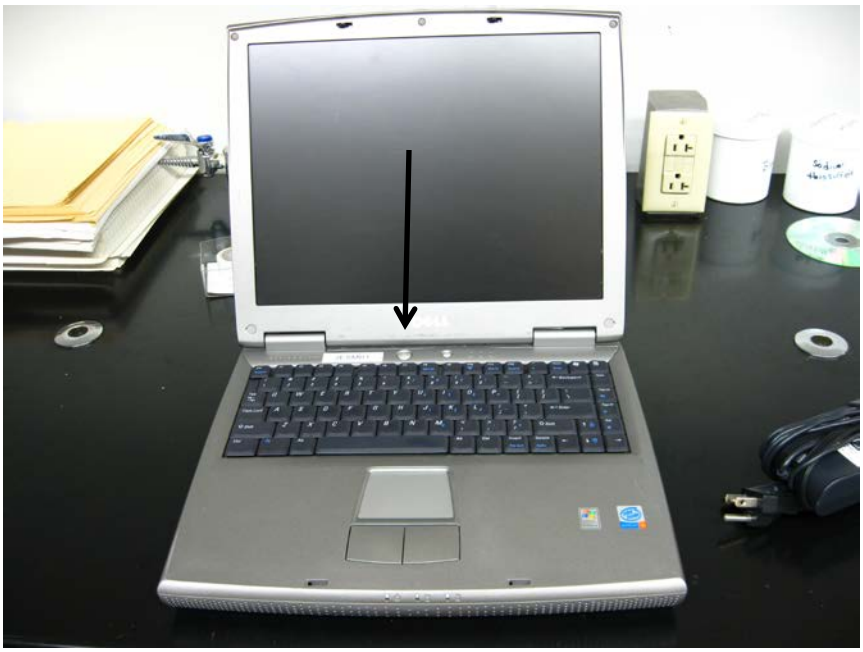


4. Connect audio jack from TandBerg unit to headphone jack on notebook.



5. Turn on LG television by pressing the power button on the television's remote

6. Turn on notebook by pressing the notebook's power button.



7. Logon to notebook with your school username and password.

8. If notebook screen is blank or the notebook desktop doesn't show up on LG television screen, hold down the Fn key and press the F8-CRT/LCD key. Wait 3 seconds between pressing the Fn + F8-CRT/LCD keys, this allows the notebook time to change its display settings. Press the Fn + F8-CRT/LCD keys until the notebook display is visible and the LG television is displaying the notebook screen.

9. Press the notebook button (picture of a notebook) on top of the TandBerg remote control. This instructs the TandBerg unit to get its signal from the notebook.

10. Press the Cancel X button on the TandBerg unit remote control to remove the TandBerg information bars from the LG television screen.

11. To power done the unit:
    a. Turn off notebook by using the Start button and then the Shut Down button, select Shut Down in the Shut Down Windows box then press OK.
    b. Turn off LG television by pressing the LG television remote's power button.
    c. Unplug the TandBerg unit from wall socket.

Notes:

The unit remote controls are usually stored on the top of the TandBerg unit.

Use the TandBerg remote control to control audio volume.

If there is no audio make sure the audio is not muted on the notebook.

Please return notebook and TandBerg unit to their proper storage facilities.